Bill Cadigan Presents at Illinois Association of Healthcare Attorneys: Physician Employment: What's Old Is New Again

October 21, 2009—Bill Cadigan, a Chicago attorney specializing in the representation of physicians and physician practice organizations was a featured presenter at the 27th Annual Health Law Symposium sponsored by the Illinois Association of Healthcare Attorneys held at Navy Pier. The other presenter was Keith Anderson, a partner in the Chicago office of Drinker Biddle & Reath LLP who represents hospitals and health systems across the country on corporate and transactional issues.

The topic of the panel was Physician Employment: What's Old Is New Again and examined the renewed interest by hospitals and systems in employing physicians. Topics covered included: organizational and compensation models used in physician practice acquisition and employment; reimbursement, regulatory and physician shortage issues driving the trend towards physician employment; and how acquisitions and employment arrangements can be structured to promote trust and confidence between hospitals/systems and physicians.
